Novastone Capital Advisors Announces Acquisition of Alumistar, Parent Company of Pacific Cast Products and Performance Aluminum Products

July 1, 2026 — Novastone Capital Advisors ("NCA") today announced the acquisition of Alumistar, parent company of Pacific Cast Products and Performance Aluminum Products.

Located in Ontario, California, Pacific Cast Products and Performance Aluminum Products is a leading aluminum alloy casting company serving customers across the aerospace, defense, industrial, and commercial markets. The company specializes in producing high-quality aluminum alloy castings that meet demanding performance, precision, and reliability requirements for industrial and aerospace applications. With extensive manufacturing expertise and a commitment to quality, the company provides specialized casting solutions tailored to a wide range of applications while supporting long-term partnerships with manufacturers across diverse industries.

Bill Balliette will lead Alumistar as CEO, bringing extensive manufacturing leadership experience to build on the company's strong foundation while supporting its continued growth.

"Alumistar is a strong business with a well-earned reputation for quality, technical expertise, and long-standing customer relationships," said Christian Malek, Founder and CEO of Novastone Capital Advisors. "We are excited to partner with Bill as he builds on that foundation, supports the company's next phase of growth, and continues delivering exceptional value to customers."

"I am excited to leverage my experience leading manufacturing organizations and lead Alumistar into its next chapter, building on the foundation created by the company's prior ownership group and team," said Bill Balliette, CEO of Alumistar. "We have worked diligently with our investment partners to build a group of stakeholders who understand the operational realities of manufacturing businesses and bring a valuable perspective as we work to preserve Alumistar's legacy while pursuing the company's next phase of growth."

The transaction was supported by Harney Partners for deal diligence, Smith Hulsey & Busey for legal advisory, UHY for tax diligence, and Avid Bank for financing.

About Novastone Capital Advisors
Novastone Capital Advisors supports experienced operators in identifying, acquiring, and operating established businesses through its operator-led buyout model. The firm works with operators and investors to facilitate successful ownership transitions for privately held companies, preserving business legacies while creating long-term value through hands-on leadership and operational excellence.